

Ellsberg And Russo Plan To Sue Nixon!

U.S. JUDGE
MATT BYRNE
Dismisses Charges

'Government Misconduct' Cited As Judge Dismisses Charges In Pentagon Papers Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, freed of charges in the Pentagon papers case because of government misconduct, say they will sue President Nixon for "conspiracy to deprive us of our civil liberties."

"We will bring suit against all the conspirators, of which President Nixon appears to be the ringleader," Ellsberg said Friday after espionage, conspiracy and theft charges against Ellsberg and Russo were lifted by U.S. District Judge Matt Byrne Jr.

Ellsberg, calm and smiling, told newsmen the Watergate and White House involvement in his case reminded him of Mafia tactics.

"I think of the code of the Mafia," he said. "Silence. That has been the code of the White House."

Russo said he believed the sudden disclosures of wiretaps, a break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist and an undercover White House investigation of Ellsberg had shown that "our country has been run by criminals."

Ellsberg said lawsuits will be filed against officials other than Nixon—all those whose names have been implicated in the prosecution in the past two weeks.

He said he doesn't believe there is enough evidence yet to show that Nixon is guilty of a crime, but Ellsberg said he feels there is sufficient evidence to indict the President.

"I believe that President Nixon is innocent until proven guilty, and he deserves his day in court just as we did," Ellsberg said.

Ellsberg and Russo, both former researchers on government projects for the Rand Corp., were charged because they admittedly copied the Pentagon papers, a top secret study of U.S. involvement in Vietnam. Ellsberg later leaked them to news media.

Though the trial itself drowned in a flood of Watergate and White House misconduct, the issues that precipitated the case were never resolved.

"The charges against these defendants raise serious factual and legal issues that I would certainly prefer to have litigated to completion," Byrne commented in dismissing the charges.

The revelations that Watergate conspirators had broken into the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist, that the White House had launched an undercover probe of Ellsberg's leak of the papers and that Ellsberg had been overheard on secret wiretaps showed "that govern-

U-M Pigeons Run Afoul Of Law

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Pigeons roosting on one of the University of Michigan's buildings may have run afoul of the law, and officials said they are proceeding to evict the troublesome tenants believed responsible for two law professors becoming ill.

At the crux of the matter is the pigeon droppings on the law school roof, suspected as the source of sickness which recently felled two law school faculty members, U-M health service officials said.

The disease, known as histoplasmosis, is characterized by coughing, fever, chest congestion and headaches and is carried by a fungus which thrives in moist manure, especially bird droppings, said Dr. John Maley.

It is contracted by humans chiefly through breathing contaminated dust and spores, he said.

James Gribble, assistant to the Law School Dean pointed out that pigeons have been a persistent problem because of the architecture of the building.

"The Law School always has been more susceptible to pigeons than other buildings, he said. "The nooks, crannies and turrets seem particularly appealing to them."

But William Joy, of the environmental health and safety department, defended the beleaguered birds.

"If you had elephants on your roof, I suppose you'd have the same problem," Joy said.

Meanwhile, a full fledged campaign is being waged to rid the law quadrangle of its foul fowls.

Plant department employees, wearing inhalators to protect them from possible infection are removing the contaminated material and displacing the lofty loiterers by treating the roof with bird repellent.

Officials have instructed law school employees to keep their windows closed and their air conditioners off while the cleanup is in progress so germ laden dust cannot seep into the building.

Tentative Whirlpool Pact Up For Union Vote Sunday

Negotiators for the International Association of Machinists (IAM) Local 1918 and the St. Joseph division of Whirlpool have reached tentative agreement on a new three-year contract which will be presented to union members for ratification Sunday.

The tentative agreement was announced Friday by Ron Stutz, director of industrial and community relations for Whirlpool's St. Joseph division.

Negotiating teams from both union and company, along with Federal Mediator Bernard O'Keefe, had been meeting all week.

Stutz said the new contract contained "significant wage and benefit improvements" for members of Local 1918.

Here Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie will make a two-day official visit to Washington next week, the State Department has announced.

Kepp said his negotiating committee is "compelled" to recommend the contract since Whirlpool yielded on only one point with the provision that the contract be recommended to union members. He said in a "roundabout" way the committee will recommend the contract under protest.

Whirlpool offered to reinstate the 2½ cents an hour cost of living increase for each point upward on the cost of living index, Kepp said. The company originally offered two cents an hour cost of living increase.

Other terms of the contract Kepp said are:

Five and a half per cent wage increase the first year and 15 cents across the board during both the second and third years. The union wanted 5.5 per cent each of the three years.

A pension increase from $7 to $7.50 per month for each year of service. The union wanted $8.50.

An increase from 10 to 11 paid holidays in 1974. The union

Assault Suspect Released

DETROIT (AP) — Hayward Brown was released from jail on bond Friday and will remain freed pending his trial on four charges, including three charges of assault with intent to commit murder.

Brown was acquitted Thursday on charges stemming from the wounding of four Detroit policemen in a shootout Dec. 4 in Detroit.

Brown's acquittal eliminated $40,000 in bonds outstanding against him and reduced the remaining total to $32,000.

Detroit Recorder's Court Judge George Crockett ruled that Brown could be released on personal bond of $10,000 on one of the pending charges and could be released if he posted cash deposits of $5,000 toward each of the $10,000 bonds on the two other assault charges.

A deposit of $200 would be accepted as a deposit on bond of $2,000 on a fourth case of carrying a concealed weapon, Crockett ruled.

Child Burning Charged

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police have petitioned Wayne County Juvenile Court to waive jurisdiction over a 16-year-old boy accused of pouring gasoline over a 3-year-old girl and setting her afire so he can be tried as an adult.

The victim, Michelle Test, is in critical condition with third-degree burns over 70 per cent of her body. Doctors give her a 50-50 chance of surviving.

Detective Sgt. Michael Babluk said the boy was identified by the child's father and other witnesses. He was arrested Thursday.

The boy had been committed to the Boys Training Home in Lansing in 1971 for the murder of an 18-year-old Detroit woman and was released last year, Babluk said.

The detective said the youth allegedly set the child on fire after an argument erupted during a drinking party at the Test home.

Repealing The Personal Property Tax

In an interview Friday over WHFB, Ray Mittan, the state representative for the eastern side of Berrien county, indicated strong sympathy for a move to repeal or greatly reduce the personal property tax.

Theoretically, the levy applies to everyone but by reason of high statutory exemptions and local assessment policies, nobody we know of is taxed on his grand piano or Oriental rugs. In practice, only business pays it.

Mittan said relief in that respect could be a factor in attracting new industry to Michigan and forestalling business now in the state from jumping boundary lines.

The personal tax is a sizeable revenue producer for local government and the schools.

Going by the proposed 1973 country equalized assessment roll, the personal tax should yield 21.5 per cent as a countrywide average.

For the townships as a whole, this average drops to 15.1 per cent. For the seven cities in the country the average is 34 per cent.

Within the two groups and the school districts which overlay them, those averages vary widely.

For the cities, the percentage runs: Benton Harbor, 35.3; Buchanan, 47; Bridgman, 23.6; Coloma, 20.8; New Buffalo, 8.4; Niles, 30.9; St. Joseph, 36; and Watervliet, 37.2.

The obvious conclusion is that repealing the personal tax would range from a minor dislocation in revenue raising at New Buffalo to outright disaster in Buchanan and Watervliet, not forgetting bankrupt Benton Harbor and free spending St. Joseph.

The variation among the townships is fairly similar to that between the cities. This variance shows some interesting patterns in physical proximity between the townships and the cities.

New Buffalo township's ration of 6.7 per cent and Coloma township's 13.1 are the nearest matches with their respective city neighbors.

Watervliet township and Lake township which surrounds Bridgman on three sides are the farthest apart. The Watervliet percentage is 6 and Lake township's is 5.8.

Buchanan township's dependency ratio of 16.6 per cent is next in this removal area.

Benton township follows the opposite pattern. It relies on the personal tax for 27.3 per cent of its local revenue.

The St. Joseph and Niles areas are a mixed bag.

St. Joseph township is 9.7 per cent, whereas Lincoln township is 23.9 per cent.

Niles township is 13.6 per cent, while Bertrand township is only 8 per cent.

The comparison in the township picture shows that for the most part an outright repeal of the personal tax would be most disruptive in areas building up as commercial and industrial sitings. They are pretty much in the same boat as the cities.

Most businessmen we have talked to on the subject key on inventory (raw materials, work in process, finished product in storage) as the bane of the personal tax.

The reason is that inventory gets the assessor's blunt pencil, while machinery and equipment receive some tempering.

Perishable tools, dies, jigs and fixtures, those obsolete within 12 months, are exempted from assessment. Some years ago Chrysler Corporation took its case to the legislature in very understandable language. Either the city of Detroit stop taxing that costly tooling or Chrysler would leave town. Even the Detroit assessor caught the point and made no noticeable effort to lobby against the proposition.

Machinery and equipment is assessed on its depreciated value. This drops to a levelling out figure of 30 per cent of value if the items are still in use after their 15th year of acquisition. If this older equipment goes into storage that figure declines to 15 per cent.

Shorter lived or fast depreciated equipment is assessed by rates qualifying under IRS rules for income tax purposes. Thus, if the IRS allows the owner to depreciate his equipment at 20 per cent a year, the local assessor follows that declining schedule.

This different treatment for inventory vs. machinery and equipment suggests that the legislature, if it can be interested in Mittan's most valid argument that something must be done to improve Michigan business climate, should take a more realistic look at this raw material to finished product situation.

Taxes are not the only thing which gives the Michigan businessman or a prospective one the shakes.

The welfare problem is a disgrace which never should have been allowed to get where it is; the state's biggest labor outfit, the UAW, could change some of its thinking; and the legislature might well create its own revolution by first asking where is the money coming from before passing appropriation bills.

Nonetheless, Mittan is on the right track.

A blanket repeal of the personal property tax is too much of a gulp at this time.

Sensible adjustment of it is the real need.

Watergate Won't Hurt Peace Talks

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is a great deal written these days on how Watergate will so weaken President Nixon's position he will be unable to carry out an effective foreign policy.

Nonsense. Those writers have not read history. They don't understand that nations operate from self interest — otherwise how account for the arrangements with China and Soviet Union. Finally, they don't understand or won't face the extent of political scandal in virtually every nation with which we deal.

President Truman, who began as a vigorous president, was not noticeably hampered by the suspicions which surrounded him from the beginning of his term because of his longtime friendship with crooked party bosses, his close alliance with friends and hangers-on who used White House influence for favors, or finally by the multitude of scandals which enveloped his administration toward the end of his presidency.

It will be recalled that some of the scandals which developed during the Truman administration actually led, after Mr. Truman's term was ended, to the conviction and imprisonment of Assistant Attorney General Lamar Caudle, and Matthew Connelly, who had been in the White House as Mr. Truman's appointments secretary. Mr. Truman, too, defended his old friends.

One can argue that Watergate was different in that it affected, or was meant to affect, the political process. But there are few countries in the world where this will come as a surprise — or where election scandals are more shocking than large-scale fraud and influence buying.

As secretary of State, Dean Acheson did not lose his effectiveness as a result of his close personal friendship with a protégé accused of having engaged in espionage for the Soviet Union and sent to prison for perjury in the matter. Acheson was not noticeably touched even after telling reporters in a dramatic meeting that "I will not turn my back on Alger Hiss."

A reading of history tells us those American presidents who have been strong in foreign policy have pursued negotiations with forcefulness and imagination, regardless of their position at home and without relationship to the prestige of the United States at the time.

Turning from scandals, President Johnson was viewed with high disfavor in a number of foreign nations for his part in the Vietnam war. Yet on matters in which he took an active interest, Mr. Johnson was powerful in his dealings abroad.

It must not be forgotten that a considerable number of the key countries with which Mr. Nixon will deal in the years just ahead are accustomed to major scandals in high government places.

Auto: Expression Of Individual

When the House of Representatives killed a move to transfer funds from the highway trust to the support of urban mass transit, the cries of pain were loud in the land. In fact, it represented the umpteenth time that those had been frustrated who desire Americans to do less driving and more riding on trains and buses.

Indeed, reluctance to abandon the individual car seems deeply rooted and not merely in practical considerations, for the arguments usually put forward in favor of other forms of transportation are good if only practicality is at issue. The automobile is not especially efficient. Surely it is irrational to see all those vehicles lined up along the Long Island Expressway or on the approaches to Los Angeles, each car empty except for its single passenger, the driver. If you put the issue to a computer, the answer would be perfectly predictable: load everyone into monorails and ship them to work that way.

The other objections to the automobile are numerous and also true. The vehicles jam our city streets. They fill the air with racket and hydrocarbons, the latter settling over our cities like great translucent puddings. The mayhem on our highways makes the Vietnamese War look like a taffy-pull. Auto engines consume huge quantities of fuel, deepen the energy crisis, and cause foreign policy dilemmas by making us dependent on oil from the Middle East.

But even modest and reasonable attempts to introduce alternative forms of transportation meet with stubborn resistance, and surely all of it cannot be traced to the machinations of the big auto companies in Detroit or of the much-denounced highway lobby. If there really did exist a vast public clamor for buses and monorails instead of private cars you can be sure that they would soon be forthcoming.

No, the root of resistance to all attacks on the automobile has to do with its peculiar and symbolic significance in our culture, in modern culture generally, but most especially in America, the first modern country and the one in which the process of modernization is most advanced.

As early as 1908, the esthetic theoretician F.T. Marinetti grasped the profound meaning of the automobile, a meaning having little to do with the practical matter of transportation. Marinetti's Futurist Manifesto of 1908, usually viewed as the charter of the modern movement in the arts, celebrates the automobile as the perfect expression of the modern spirit: it was a machine controlled by the individual himself, the very epitome of individual autonomy (and note that in "mass transit" this relationship would be reversed: a fact that may do much to explain public reluctance to embrace it). The automobile expresses the taste of the individual, and also his individual will, noted Marinetti; and confers upon him the gift of speed. In the fifth Proposition of his Futurist Manifesto, Marinetti urges the modern artist to "hymn the man at the steering wheel whose ideal axis passes through the center of the earth" — by which he meant that the individual at the wheel was a profound reflection of modern individualism and freedom.

It will take more than reasonable arguments to get us all on buses and monorails.

Mother's Day 1973 Highlights A Problem

Motherhood is no longer a full-time occupation for an increasing number of women. This Mother's Day, Sunday, May 13, will find more women than ever before working outside the home. While the number of children in the population has declined somewhat in recent years, the number of children with working mothers has increased significantly. Nearly one-third of all mothers with preschool children and one-half of the mothers with school-age children are working. If recent trends continue, reports the National Planning Association (Projection Highlights, March 1973), 59 per cent of all mothers will be in the labor force by 1980.

Separated, widowed and divorced women bringing up children on their own have always worked in large numbers. But the current increase in working mothers is not primarily the result of family breakups. It is identified largely with changing attitudes toward woman's place in society, the trend toward smaller families, and the inflationary economy.

The biggest problem facing working mothers is the lack of adequate and affordable day care facilities for their children. The predominance of the nuclear family generally precludes the sharing of child-care responsibilities with grandparents or other adult relatives. The Office of Child Development in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare reports that there are more than five million children of preschool age whose mothers work. The total capacity of licensed public and private day care facilities is less than 700,000. This means that the vast majority of working mothers must make other arrangements for the care of their children when they are on the job.

Rampart Given SJ Operating Permit Till Case Is Settled

BY BILL RUSH
Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit Judge Julian Hughes issued a temporary order Friday allowing Rampart Ambulance Service, Inc. of Benton township, to operate in the city of St. Joseph.

The order will continue pending a final decision on the constitutionality of St. Joseph's ambulance ordinance. If legal briefs by attorneys are on time, the decision should be ready by August 1, Judge Hughes said.

St. Joseph adopted its ambulance ordinance Jan. 29 and issued a license to Action Ambulance. A request by Rampart for a license was turned down by the city commission Feb. 26 and Rampart employees were arrested by St. Joseph police last month for operating without a license. Rampart filed suit last week in circuit court seeking to have the ordinance overturned.

Hughes issued the order on the grounds that Rampart apparently cannot recover financial losses by other legal means if it wins the suit.

"There is no question the city fathers of St. Joseph acted in good faith in trying to meet the troublesome problem of providing adequate ambulance service," Hughes said.

Hughes also said public interest is involved in emergency cases which should be handled as quickly as possible and should be taken to the closest medical facility.

But, Hughes noted, the ordinance now prohibits picking up any emergency cases in St. Joseph or taking any to Memorial hospital. Memorial hospital is a community facility not just for St. Joseph and should be available, he said.

Hughes pointed out that other area communities subsidize Action Ambulance as does St. Joseph but none of the other ones restrict Rampart from operating.

Atty. A.G. Preston, Jr., city attorney for St. Joseph, said the city commission subsidizes Action with $400 monthly and believes there is only enough business for one ambulance service.

Preston also argued that Rampart would not suffer irreparable economic loss during the remainder of the suit since it operates in at least six other communities.

Atty. David Peterson of St. Joseph, representing Rampart, said the ambulance service made $877 from Jan. 10 to Feb. 26 in St. Joseph, before its license request was denied. Since the denial many patients no longer call Rampart or hesitate because they fear arrest, he said.

The constitutional issues to be decided by Judge Hughes are whether the ambulance ordinance is valid with proper guidelines and whether ambulance service can be limited by a monopoly situation.

Vacant. Building Burns

Tri-Unit firemen from Stevensville, for the second time within two weeks, were summoned to put out a blaze in a vacant building at Cleveland and Glenford road.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said the latest blaze, that damaged the vacant house, appeared incendiary in nature. Firemen were called at 4:18 p.m. Friday. A fire, also believed incendiary in nature, destroyed a small barn and nearby tool shed on the same property last April 30. Firemen reported the owner of the property as Arthur Grote of Maywood, Ill.

Deputies said no arrests have been made, but the matter is under investigation. The fire Friday damaged the east side of the house and is believed to have been started by burning papers, deputies said.

Benton township firemen said a blaze of undetermined origin destroyed the interior of an apartment, occupied by Lillie Burton, 1818 Crystal court. No one was home when the blaze was reported by a neighbor at 11:45 p.m., firemen said.

Firemen said the apartment is one of six in one of the buildings of Berrien Manor. An apartment adjacent to the one burned received some smoke damage, according to firemen. The blaze apparently started in the kitchen.

Eight Are Hurt In Five Area Traffic Mishaps

Eight persons, including a bicycle rider in St. Joseph and a motorcycleist in Berrien township, were injured in five traffic accidents investigated by Twin Cities area police Friday.

St. Joseph police said Douglas L. Ransom, 24, of 803½ Park street, St. Joseph, received a fractured shoulder and was taken to Memorial hospital, when a bicycle he was riding struck a curb on Pearl street, by Kiwanis park.

Police said Ransom told officers he was traveling down a hill on Pearl, when the front tire blew out. The rider was hurled onto the ground. The accident occurred about 5:09 p.m.

David A. Enders, 16, Box 13, Dean Hill road, Berrien Center, was taken to Berrien general hospital, after a motorcycle he was driving and an auto collided on Dean Hill, near Huckleberry road, about 5:30 p.m.

Berrien sheriff's officers said the driver of the car, Howard G. McPherson, 56, Route 1, Berrien Center, was injured, but not hospitalized. No tickets were issued, deputies stated.

Benton township police said to girls were treated two at Mercy hospital, following a collision involving three cars on Napier avenue, just east of Colfax avenue, about 2:58 p.m. Friday.

Treated were Mary Ann Hardin, 7, and Nina Sue Hardin, 9, of 1168 Maynard drive, Benton township, passengers in a car, driven by Ruby C. Gillenwater, 26, of the same address. Also injured, but deciding to seek her own treatment, was another driver, Miss Ina Redman, 67, retired Berrien county extension home economist, of 175 Fisk road, Fairplain. The third driver, unhurt, was Eric J. Wieser, 17, of 1058 Fairlawn, St. Joseph.

Deputies said all three cars were eastbound on Napier, when the brakes of the Gillenwater auto apparently failed. No tickets were issued, deputies indicated.

Deputies said a St. Joseph township woman, Erin Fitzsimmons, 18, of 2183 Brown School road, was treated and released from Mercy hospital, after her car went out of control and into a ditch off Red Arrow highway, near Puettz road, Lincoln township, about 11:42 p.m. Friday. Deputies said the mishap occurred on a curve. No tickets were issued, it was reported.

At 11:45 a.m. Friday, deputies investigated a two-car collision on Red Arrow at Glenford road, Lincoln township.

Deputies said Gary A. Kimball, 3, a passenger in a car driven by Beverly Ann Kimball, 32, of 1567 Edward drive, Stevensville, was injured, but not hospitalized. Mrs. Kimball and the other driver, Rose Marie Bleicher, 47, of Three Oaks, were unhurt, deputies said. Mrs. Bleicher was ticketed for failure to stop in an assured distance, deputies stated.

Social Services, said Rep. James Smith, R-Grand Blanc.

Sent to the Senate after winning House approval Friday, 86-3, the measure would allow the Social Services Department to contract with banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions for processing and handling.

Postoffices recently were designated distribution centers for food stamps. Opponents of the measure said that takes care of the convenience problems and that government ought to handle distribution instead of contracting at a price with business to do so.

Smith said welfare recipients often do not have transportation and need to pick up stamps closer to home.

The House approved three other minor bills Friday before taking a weekend recess. The Senate did not meet.

One bill, approved 90-0, would knock out the $10 limit county zoning commissioners are paid for attending a meeting. The measure, which goes to the governor's desk for signing, would allow county commissioners to set the per diem rates for zoning board members.

ELECTED: Dick Kiesel, St. Joseph city assessor, has been elected secretary and treasurer of the St. Joseph Valley Chapter, No. 176, Society of Real Estate Appraisers. The election was conducted at the chapter's meeting May 10 at Tinker's Dam, a Michigan City, Ind. restaurant.

Would Put Food Stamps In Banks Senate Gets Welfare Bill

The House also approved a measure giving township treasurers more latitude on depositing the township's money. Present law says the depository must be a bank whose main office is in the same county where the township is located. The measure, approved 91-0, allows the treasurer to place funds in any bank the township board directs.

Many rural banks have merged with big city banks, said the bill's sponsor, Rep. Douglas Trezise, R-Owosso. That means the institution's main office is in another county, making the rural bank ineligible to receive the township's funds.

The other bill passed by the House, 87-2, and sent to the Senate would amend the Subdivision Control Act, allowing land owners to sell undersized lots in some cases.

The owner would have to have a lease agreement for the lot executed before 1968 and there would have to be a building on the lot.

It used to be a common practice for employers to lease land to employees in former "company mining towns" of the Upper Peninsula. In many cases, the land owners now want to convey the lots to the homeowners, but cannot because the lots are undersized, according to the bill's sponsor, Rep. Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay.

The annual meeting will include a dinner and election of new directors for the YMCA board. The monthly board meeting will follow and will include election of officers for the coming year.

Featured speaker at the annual meeting will be Herbert E. Evans, retired president of Nationwide Communications, Inc., operator of radio and television stations. He also served for five years as director and vice-president of the Cleveland Browns professional football team.

Past president of the National Council of YMCAs, Evans is a member of the board of trustees of Springfield college, and previously spent 16 years at Columbia university as counselor to students. In 1971, he was elected broadcaster of the year by the Ohio Broadcasters Association.

Modern Johnny Appleseed Likes Sharing His Bounty Berrien Grower Renting Trees

EAU CLAIRE—Herb Teichman, owner of the Tree-Mendus fruit orchards on Clawson road in Pipestone township east of Eau Claire could be called a latter-day Johnny Appleseed.

While he doesn't roam the countryside planting apple trees, Teichman said he wants to share the fruits of his labors with city folk — so he rents his trees.

Whether your favorite variety is Beauce, McIntosh, Paulared, Winesap, Jonathan or Delicious — red or gold — there's a tree for you in Teichman's 600-800 acre orchard.

Urbanites can get their apple a day, or bushels, for $5 to $30 a year by leasing one of the trees, which are numbered and labeled with a description of the fruit and the rental price, Teichman said.

Once you've made the choice, just sign a contract and the tree is yours, Teichman said. It will be marked "Sold" and your name will be listed in his records as the owner, he added.

He said the rent-a-tree idea is an extension of the pick-your-own peach, plum, cherry, apricot, pear and apple business which brought over 3,000 families to Tree-Mendus last year, when they picked 4,000 to 5,000 bushels of fruit.

"I'm very humble and appreciative of what we have. We have custody of a great deal of land. Sure, I have title to it. But actually we all own this land. You might say I'm chairman of the board of this land," Teichman said.

He said he and his staff will prune, fertilize and spray the trees for the buyer. All you have to do is sit back and wait for the juicy fruit to ripen.

When harvest time comes, you pick your own apples. Teichman said the yield from a single tree is between five and 15 bushels.

And that's not all. There are other benefits to owning an apple tree at Tree-Mendus. Anytime you want to escape the crowded city for a more idyllic and serene atmosphere, you can visit your apple tree.

There are picnic areas and nature trails at Tree-Mendus.

"Say there's a family in Detroit and they have relatives in Chicago and they want to get together. They can meet here and have lunch under their tree or on the picnic tables we put up," Teichman said.

But, he said, littering is a big offense and he is adamant about breaking contracts and banning folks from his Eden forever if they abuse the land or the creatures on it.

"I feel we are selling more than just apples. This country needs fresh air and family togetherness with purpose. I am willing to share with people the privilege of being out here, as long as they don't abuse it," Teichman said.

Workshop On Hunter Safety

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A workshop for state certified hunter safety instructors and persons interested in becoming certified is to be held Tuesday night, May 15, in the Berrien Intermediate School district offices here.

Ronald Humphreys, western Michigan coordinator of hunter safety for the Natural Resources department, said the workshop is being held by the DNR and intermediate school district. Registration time is 6:30 p.m.

Persons planning to attend were asked to telephone Donald Cameron at the intermediate office prior to the meeting.

APPLE RENTER: Herb Teichman, owner of the Tree-Mendus fruit orchards near Eau Claire could be called a latter day Johnny Appleseed. While he doesn't roam the countryside planting apple trees he wants to share the fruits of his labors with city folk, so he rents his trees. Once you've rented a tree Teichman will tend your tree until you come to pick or visit it.

Assistant Theological Dean Named At Andrews

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The appointment of an assistant dean at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological seminary and the selection of a name for the final building in the Andrews university science development have been made by the university's board of trustees, according to Dr. Richard Hammill, university president.

Dr. Thomas Blincoe, associate professor of theology, was named assistant dean of the seminary with particular responsibilities for spiritual, social, and economic phases of student life. He will assist Dr. Siegfried Horn, who was approved as seminary dean at an earlier board meeting.

Dr. W. G. C. Murdoch, retiring dean of the seminary, was given a one-year appointment as chairman of the department of church and ministry and director of the Doctor of Ministry program. He replaces Dr. Wilber Alexander. Dr. Alexander has accepted a position in the religion department of Loma Linda (Calif.) university.

The physics, mathematics, and engineering building of the new AU science complex was named after James H. Haughey, who taught physics and math for 34 years at Battle Creek college and Emmanuel Missionary college, forerunners of Andrews university.

The Board also voted to approve remodeling the basement of Campus center for student recreational facilities when the physics and engineering department move from there to the new building next fall.

Two persons were appointed to the board of trustees to fill two-year terms as "recent graduates." They were Chuck Cleveland, who received a bachelor of arts degree in 1969 and a master of divinity degree in 1971, and Sharon Anderson, who expects to receive a bachelor's degree in psychology in June. Cleveland is now a ministerial intern, pastoring Seventh-day Adventist churches in Houghton and L'Anse.

Reappraisal Bids Being Accepted

NEW BUFFALO — Sealed bids on reappraisal professional of New Buffalo township property will be accepted until 1 p.m. Saturday, May 19, the township board has announced.

Specifications are available at the township hall.

Bids will be opened, the board said, at a special meeting at 2 p.m. May 19 and, following analysis, contract for the reappraisal is expected to be awarded at the board's regular meeting Thursday, May 24.

Reappraisal was authorized by township residents at the annual meeting March 31.

Controversy over assessments in the township has prevailed for the past year and last month the state tax commission ordered a state investigation of the tax roll. In March, Arthur Adams resigned as supervisor when the township board of review refused to accept his proposed assessment changes.

Last professional reappraisal of township property was done in 1961-63 by a Cleveland, Ohio, firm.
